The diagram illustrates a sequence of seven stages of a process. Each stage is represented by a set of horizontal lines. The first stage has a solid line at the top and a dashed line below it. The subsequent stages show the solid line moving down towards the dashed line, with the dashed line also moving down. The stages are labeled with the Greek letter θ below them.
